Intelligent Infusion Solutions

NATICK, MA – April XX, 2018 – Zyno Solutions, experts in providing intelligent IV infusion systems, has reached milestone in the implementation and installation of cloud-based infusion management systems and wireless integrated infusion pumps with electronic medical record systems.

The ZynoFlo Integrated Infusion System eclipsed the mark of 100 clinics installed with the ZynoFlo system in the United States. This includes the installation and connectivity of over 2,200 wireless infusion pumps communicating with electronic medical record systems.

The ZynoFlo wireless integrated cloud-based system is specifically designed to provide nursing workflow efficiency, patient safety, and revenue-related benefits. The integrated system relies on the established reliability and durability of the Z-800WF ZynoFlo enabled infusion pump to complete the clinical workflow and the wireless integrated system for community-based oncology practices.

ZynoFlo bridges the gap between drug dispensing systems, infusion therapy processes, and EMR systems by creating a connected flow of in-patient-context information between these systems and processes. As a clinical and administrative tool, ZynoFlo optimizes nursing workflow productivity and patient throughput while enhancing patient safety and enabling nurses to spend more time with patients. In addition, the automatic capture and documentation of billing information provides productivity benefits and unprecedented confidence in revenue capture and billing accuracy.

“We are pleased with success we have experienced this last year with the installation of the ZynoFlo system,” said Steve Watkins, general manager and executive vice president of Zyno Solutions. “We are excited about the growth of this tool to help clinics standardize and enhance their IV workflows.”
